Pastoral Message

The Rev. Dr. Randall K. Bush, Pastor

An occupational hazard of being a pastor is that you rarely get to attend other worship services or hear other minister's sermons. That is one reason why I enjoy attending the Good Samaritan services, mostly so that I can be a part of that worshipping community and share in the powerful time of intercessory prayer. Although I usually have to leave the service early to prepare for the "Journey" worship time, occasionally the prayer time becomes a mini-sermon time.

One Sunday several months ago, Ray Anthony, an ELPC member and regular Good Samaritan worship attendee, offered some thoughts during the prayer time. As I recall, he spoke about family and about his heartfelt desire that the men of the homeless shelter and vulnerable souls on Pittsburgh's streets might know God's love and peace. He went on to insist that the gospel message is stronger and truer than the messages we commonly hear, and (like a good preacher) proceeded to give three examples.

Ray mentioned how people often say "God helps those who help themselves," but that's not quite true. Yes, we are to do the best we can and ever seek to do what is right, but God's grace most often comes to help those who can't help themselves. In that assurance comes a real word of hope.

Ray then noted that we speak about the "survival of the fittest." But life is not just about surviving, and certainly not about working hard to make it at the expense of someone else. The gospel message is about how abundant life and peace is promised, not to the fittest, but to the meek, the weak, the forgotten and overlooked. The promise of resurrection emerged not from a Caesar on a golden throne, but from a crucified teacher on a wooden cross.

Finally Ray commented that some insist "God don't like ugly." As true as that might be, God is greater than all the "ugly" in the world, and can get us through times that are hard into new places that exceed our hopes and imagination.

Sometimes the sermon we need to hear doesn't happen on Sunday morning. Sometimes it is contained in a chance conversation we have in a store, on the bus, or on the phone. Sometimes it is in a story we read in the paper or a song we hear on the radio. The important reminder for all of us is that we can only hear God if we quiet ourselves long enough to listen for God—not expecting a voice from the clouds, but listening to the voice speaking close at hand.

Jesus was the "Word made flesh." We mustn't be surprised if people of flesh and blood become the means for that same holy Word to be spoken to us today.

Randy Bush

Koinonia Planning Ministry

Anyone interested in participating in a Koinonia planning ministry is invited to contact Pastor Heather, to see how they can get involved.

Session News

At their recent meetings, the Session:

- Received eight new members and friends of ELPC.
- Met with members of the Strategic Visioning taskforce to share thoughts about the future ministry needs and opportunities for our church. Throughout the month of June, the Strategic Visioning planning team is meeting with a variety of church and community representatives to gather their ideas.
- Continued discussion about expanding our worship and educational offerings during the summer months of July and August.
- Welcomed the new elders to Session: Penn Hackney, Deborah Hughes, Nancy Klancher, Heather Lawrence, and Hal Sanders.

ELPC's new elders and deacons gather in the chancel following their ordination.

Child Safety Policies

ELPC staff and volunteers have been working to create a set of policies that ensure the safety of all children and youth who participate in ELPC's ministries or who attend programs at ELPC.

In April, ELPC's Session approved the adoption of these safety policies. A series of trainings will be offered early Summer for all who care for children at ELPC—staff, volunteers, parents, caregivers, etc. Look in the Sunday bulletin for more information and to find a training that fits your schedule.

Several pamphlets will be available to help you understand how these new policies affect you and your family. While copies of the complete policy manual will be provided to all ELPC staff and volunteers, additional copies are available upon request. If you have any questions, please contact Pastor Heather.

Update: Organist/Music Director Search

The nine-member Search Committee is actively reviewing over 70 resumes received from local, national, and international candidates. Many talented Christian musicians are attracted to the position of Organist/Music Director at ELPC. Their applications give a variety of reasons for their interest, ranging from the outstanding organ, to the inclusiveness of the congregation, and from the urban setting to the architecture of the sanctuary. We are in awe of the talent and commitment that is represented in the pool of candidates.

The committee has established a multi-step selection procedure and the preliminary interview phase will begin soon. Please keep us in your prayers as we continue the process to determine our next Organist/Music Director.

Volunteers Needed to Water Plants

The Landscape Team is looking for volunteers to help water the container plants in the Courtyard and at the Whitfield St. and Penn Ave. entrances. Frequency of watering depends on the weather. Anyone interested in helping, please contact Chuck Lukehart at 412.782.6447 or Chas321@aol.com.

Take a Walk Down Memory Lane

Sun., June 6, following the 11 am, Worship Service

The Board of Deacons will once again honor the seniors of ELPC with a luncheon in the Social Hall. The delicious, full-course luncheon will include fun entertainment and great conversation about the days gone by! We hope to see you there as we "Take A Walk Down Memory Lane."

Or perhaps you knew you'd enjoy it, but you didn't think you had the time because of other commitments. Well, we have a deal for you!

From Sun., July 4–Sept. 5, the Chancel Choir will operate in a "relaxed" summer mode. We will rehearse on Sunday mornings at 8:45 am, and then lead the 10 am Worship Service.

If you are interested, contact Craig Cannon at craig_cannon@fcsd.edu or meet him immediately following one of the 10 am worship services.

Join us at 9:15 am, to share a potluck breakfast. We will review our last nine months together and discuss ideas for fall classes.

June 13–July 25: Landscapes of Faith

We will consider how the settings of various biblical stories enrich the tales they contain. Wilderness, valley, or the seashore are not just arbitrary backdrops for the stories of our faith, they stimulate our imaginations in profound ways. What difference does the setting make to the story? How do we understand God's presence within the different landscapes of our own lives?

Scriptures for each lesson will be in the prior week's bulletin.

Pick up a copy of the following week's lesson in class. Join us when you can!

Note: Classes are from 9:15–9:50 am, in the Second Floor Parlor. We will not meet on Sun., July 4.

JOURNEY WITH SCRIPTURE Facilitator: Jan Irvin

PARENTING CIRCLE Facilitators: Frances Irvin and Dawn Morgenstern

Anyone involved in parenting (singles, couples, adoptive parents, step-parents, grandparents, guardians, mentors, etc.) are welcome to join us in the First Floor Harambe Room! We share experiences, resources, prayer and scripture, as well as explore how our faith builds and nourishes our family lives and helps nurture our parent/child relationships. We learn from one another ways to foster closer family relationships in the context of creating active faith communities.

June 6: Sharing Joys and Concerns

We'll share joys and concerns, and ideas for new topics. Coffee will be provided.

Learn about EECM's Child and Youth Programs

EECM serves approximately 900 youth each year through its Child and Youth Programs, including In-School/After-School Outreach, ExtraOrdinary Tutoring and Summer Day Camp. Gary Sadler, a member of ELPC's Neighbors Committee and representative on EECM's Council of Congregations, recently interviewed EECM's Kate Snyder to learn more about these programs.

- In-School/After-School Outreach programs are divided into Prevention and Intervention programming. Prevention programming prepares youth to face the negative pressures in their lives through academic support; violence, alcohol, tobacco, and drug prevention education; as well as life-skills development. Intervention programming is often a one-on-one program that works with youth who are failing in school, living with dysfunctional families, or may have recently been in the Juvenile Justice System.
- ExtraOrdinary Tutoring is a community-based academic support program. Youth who participate are considered to be less "at risk" and tend to have fewer struggles in their academics and more family support. ExtraOrdinary Tutoring focuses on specific subject areas that are causing difficulty.
- Summer Day Camp hosts about 200 youth for five weeks each summer. It combines traditional camp activities with life-skills programming, prevention education, etc. Camp is organized around a theme, and each week focuses on specific issues. For example, one year the theme was "Breaking Through the Tough Stuff" and topics included community violence, absent parents, pressures to use drugs, etc. Camp culminates in a final production, in which youth put on a dramatic production with singing, dancing, art, and music.

We have been blessed with several success stories. Dropout rates in the East End high schools normally are quite high. However in 2009, all of the youth who participated in the Intervention program remained in school! In addition, 16 graduates went on to college!

EECM needs ExtraOrdinary K-12 tutors for a one hour per week commitment. If you are interested, please contact Tracy Hudson at 412.361.5549 x403 or tracyh@eecm.org. Parents interested in enrolling a child in EECM's Child and Youth Programs should call 412.361.5549 and ask to speak with the Rev. Darnell Leonard, director of Children and Youth Programs.
